

Singing for calendar crowd

On stage. Singer Chris Ning from Streetsville will perform tonight at the Guys & Dolls charity event. Supplied photo

Julia Le

July 28, 2009

Streetsville singer Chris Ning is performing at a charity event tonight at the Mississauga Convention Centre.

Ning, the frontman for rock band VII Days II Perfection, will be providing musical entertainment for guests at the official unveiling of the Guys & Dolls charity calendar.

The doors open at 6:30 p.m

The "guys and dolls" are people from all walks of life including Mayor Hazel McCallion, Living Arts Centre CEO Gerry Townsend, university student Amanda Persad, realtor Michael Brown and firefighter Brad Welsh. They will be on-hand to autograph copies of the calendar.

Proceeds generated through sales of the 1950's style calendar proceeds will benefit the pediatric oncology department at Credit Valley Hospital.

Tickets to tonight's event cost $50 for dinner and copy of the calendar.

To order a calendar, visit www.amazing-women.ca or e-mail diannesm@sympatico.ca.

jle@mississauga.net